Printer's Edge Announces Launch of New Website

Printer's Edge is happy to announce the launch of our new website earlier this Year. The goal of the new site is to provide screen printers with all of their online needs- industry news, screen printing supplies, and problem solving information.

PrintersEdge.com has many new attributes designed for quick and easy browsing. One of the highlights is the online shopping cart. With this cart we now have the ability for our return visitors to login and see exactly what products they have purchased and receive their individual pricing for that product. Another useful characteristic is the translator. With this our non-English speaking visitors can translate the whole site with just the click of a button. Along with these qualities, we have also added extensive product information, pictures, industry news, current specials, new products, and videos. In the future we plan to implement a screen printing discussion board so that our visitors can get advice, share information, and discuss the screen printing process. This forum setting will also be a way to further improve our customer service and support. Please visit PrintersEdge.com for all of your screen printing needs.

Printer's Edge – About Us

Printers Edge started in the screen printing business in 1992 as a squeegee Blade & squeegee sharpener manufacturer. In the early years, Printers Edge revolutionized the industry with its patented hot knife cutting technology. With over 15 years of experience in manufacturing of squeegees, we continue to offer the highest quality squeegee blades in the world. Our Edgelife & MasterEdge squeegee blades are made in America of the best materials available.

Though our history is in squeegee blade manufacturing, our future is offering a full line of screen printing solutions. In 2001, Printers Edge introduced its screen solutions division to the market. This new division was established to supply bare & stretched aluminum screen frames to the screen printing industry.

In 2006, Cutting Specialists was added as a division of Printer's Edge. Cutting Specialists is an exclusive distributor of custom cutting equipment, and a wholesale service oriented company that can cut custom shapes out of a variety of materials including: rubber, urethanes, foam, coroplast, and many other plastic substrates.

Printer's Edge has added more and more products over the years to become a full line supplier including the following: film output systems, emulsions & capillary film, screen chemicals, screen tape, frames, stretching equipment, exposing and coating machines, screen printing presses, and digital equipment.

Printer's Edge will continue to adapt to the industry's needs and will be a complete source of printing products for years to come. Please visit Printersedge.com for our latest updates.
